

Jeremy Wall is the co-founder & CEO of GoalMakers, an innovative professional development company providing turnkey education programs to companies and associations. GoalMakers Master Manager™ program is based on an executive MBA curriculum and teaches the fundamentals of organizational leadership and business finance. Prior to GoalMakers, Wall founded a wearable technology company, Lumenus. After selling that business, Wall did private consulting before joining co-founders Nicholas and John Cioffi to expand GoalMakers programs to a global audience in the virtual training & education market. Fun Fact: Outside Magazine referred to Jeremy Wall as “The Steve Jobs of the Outdoor Industry”.