

Linda Stinson is a Business Coach, Facilitator, and Speaker and a partner in RLS Focused Solutions. She has helped businesses and organizations develop and implement an effective strategic plan; provided leadership development for executives and key managers; developed entrepreneurial leadership; improved communications among staff, boards of directors, and stakeholders; and achieved measurable improved results. We help our clients better understand their current situation, define their future vision, develop a process for growth, and participate in that process. As a coach, she has partnered with individuals and organizations to help them achieve higher levels of success.
